

Armed gang terrorised couple in their bedroom

JOSH THOMAS
@JoshThomasCN

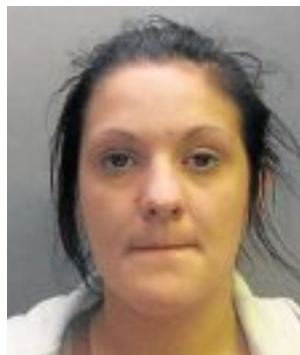

HAVERHILL men were part of an armed gang who stole thousands of pounds in cash after bursting into a couple's bedroom and demanding money at knifepoint.

Jasper Canty, 26, Joseph McDonald, 20, Carey Westley, 33, Jodie Molloy, 22, and Ben Darville, 25, all conspired to rob a couple who had been identified by Molloy, of Chief-tain Way in Cambridge, as having money and class A and B drugs in their Cottenham home.

The "shocking" and "terrifying" ordeal took place at 11pm on June 26 last year. Canty, of Hewlett Road in Cambridge, McDonald, of Thurlow Place in Haverhill, and Darville, of Fallowfield Court in Haverhill, forced their way into the house and searched it while threatening the occupants, while Westley, of Dunsey Wood Court in Haverhill, waited outside in a red VW Polo.

All five appeared at Cambridge Crown Court this week having previously pleaded guilty to conspiracy to rob.

Prosecuting, Benedict Peers said: "Both [the victim and his partner] were asleep in the bedroom. They heard banging and then their door flew open. Three men burst into the bedroom. They had gained entry at the rear of the property and had smashed through the doors.

"One of the men was holding a knife. Evidence says this was Canty. Demands were made by all three men for money. They were asking where the money was. They started to search the room. They even searched inside the victim's shoes.

"They went to a safe. They were given the keys and items were removed, as well as a large quantity of drugs of class A and B. The neighbours became aware of the noise and photos were taken. Mr Westley was seen to drive his car up and down the road a number of times. Police were called by the neighbours."

The group then left the property having taken £4,070 in cash, as well as £8,775 worth of drugs, including cannabis, MDMA, ketamine and amphetamines. An elderly man in the street tried to stop them but was unable to and the group left in the red Polo.

A police officer spotted the car as the robbers fled through Wilburton. He drove in front of them and blocked their path. He removed the keys from the car's ignition and arrested all the vehicle's occupants.

Sentencing, Judge Jonathan Cooper said: "Each of you were involved in a robbery which was intended to be shocking and terrifying to the victims. You threatened the occupants with a knife. Jodie Molloy targeted the victims and gave specific instructions to the robbers.

"McDonald took a leading role in carrying out the robbery and assembled the group. Each of you knew that weapons were at hand."

Molloy, McDonald and Canty were sentenced to four years imprisonment for their parts in the robbery. Darville, who is already serving a five year sentence for an aggravated burglary in May last year, was handed a three year prison sentence which will run consecutively to his current sentence.

Westley, who was deemed to have "arrived late" to the conspiracy, and who, the court heard, did not know weapons were to be used, was sentenced to 21 months in prison, suspended for two years.

For his role as a get-away driver, he was also disqualified from driving and was also told to undertake 200 hours off unpaid work.

POLICE

CLOSURE: The front desk of Haverhill police station has been closed since April
Picture: Keith Jones

Access to police 'will be reviewed'

HAVERHILL police station's front desk is "highly unlikely" to be reopened – but an alternative access point could be set up.

County Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore said he and the Chief Constable, Gareth Wilson, had agreed to review the situation in September.

He said reopening the police station front desk was 'highly unlikely', adding: "That's because the demand was so low."

However, following the review, if Mr Passmore and the Chief Constable believe there is demand for a face-to-face access point in Haverhill, they will explore alternative arrangements.

Mr Passmore said: "We are not going to say yes or no – we are going to see how things progress in the next couple of months."

"We are certainly in the position where we are happy to look at alternative arrangements."

"We could look at some other locations in the town where there could be a help desk run by volunteers. You have got to look at all the options."

HANNAH MIRSKY

He said that if volunteers were working at a police station they would require vetting, and added: "It's also sending a very powerful signal that we want to work with other people in the community."

He cited other arrangements across Suffolk where police worked with other local groups, such as at Brandon where the library and police station occupy the same site.

He said: "What we need to do is find a solution that is tailor made for Haverhill and the surrounding area. We are aware of population growth down there."

The reception desk at Haverhill's police station was closed at the start of April following a Suffolk Local Policing Review which left only three others open across the county.

The police station front desks in Suffolk that have remained open are in Bury St Edmunds, Ipswich and Lowestoft.

At a meeting at Haverhill Arts Centre in February, Mr Passmore raised the possibility of "community self-help" such as volunteers manning the town desk, in response to a question about it.

Other changes that were rolled out included altering the role of PCSOs and a new inspector for the whole Haverhill and Sudbury area, Danny Cooper.

If you need to get in touch with police in Haverhill, you can use the yellow phone on the front of the police station, which connects to the control room.

You can also call 101 or visit suffolk.police.uk. In an emergency, always call 999.

EDUCATION

We must look to the future, says new head

Reporter Hannah Mirsky chatted to Samuel Ward Academy's new headteacher Kath Just – who started the job on Monday – about school facilities, sixth form provision and what "21st century learning" might involve.

IN an ideal world, says Kath Just, the new principal at Haverhill's Samuel Ward Academy, her headship would see the school moved in to a brand new modern building.

"I think you have got to have schools fit for 21st century learning, and this school was not built for 21st century learning," she said.

Having taken over as head of the academy on Monday, she has already got plans to create new toilet facilities, expand the canteen, and create new outdoor play space for the students.

She says if the school could find the funding, she would like to have a new building which was more suitable for modern learning, including better wi-fi and technology.

Plans to give the school a large piece of land as part of the Great Wilsey Park development in the north-east of the town could help with this, she says, as it would provide space for new facilities to be built without affecting students' learning.

But she adds that there are some outstanding facilities at the school, such as the sports barn and media lab, and that the quality of teaching was not affected by the infrastructure.

When she spoke to the News on Tuesday afternoon, Ms Just had been spending her first two days getting to know the school, sitting in on lessons where possible.

She said: "First of all, it's the family community feel, with students who are very hard working and staff who are very committed. Every morning there are exam revision classes."

Ms Just – who is taking over as former principal

GETTING TO KNOW THE SCHOOL:
New Samuel Ward Academy headteacher Kath Just

Andy Prestoe prepares to become head of the new Sybil Andrews Academy in Bury St Edmunds – will be spending this half term learning about her new school. She is planning to have personal meetings with all staff and to talk to students and parents about what they would like to see at the school.

She said: "I am not rushing at what my priorities are. A lot of it is maintaining what the school does. The enrichment programme here, which we will be seeking to build on, gives a holistic approach to education. Students here come out as a fully rounded person."

She is hoping to apply for the World Class Schools Quality Mark, a form of recognition for schools already rated "Outstanding" by Ofsted, but that go above and beyond that classification.

There are currently just 26 schools across the country that have been awarded the quality mark.

Ms Just, who is moving to Haverhill from Chiswick School in London, says the sixth form at Samuel Ward is likely to expand in the coming years – particularly as Castle Manor Academy is winding down its sixth form provision, meaning Samuel Ward will soon be the only place A-level students can study within Haverhill.

She said: "I think it will expand. From what I can see it will only help us keep minority subjects going. It's perhaps giving an opportunity to broaden the offer for Haverhill. You can make a viable sixth form by having those numbers."

She wants to make sure that when students leave the school they are prepared for the fast-paced, ever-changing world they will encounter. She said that "21st century learning" does not just mean integrating technology in classroom teaching, but also educating students on how they interact with technology.

"You have got to teach that safety, you have got to get that safeguarding. I think we've got to teach students that what they read online, on social media, isn't necessarily true."

MPs working for local justice

MPs are working to ensure residents in West Suffolk still have access to justice after Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court closes – which could be as soon as next month.

Residents in the west of the county were promised "alternative arrangements for justice" when the court closure was announced, but what these will be is not yet clear.

MP for Bury St Edmunds Jo Churchill has called a meeting to find out more about what will happen after the court shuts.

She was set to meet with representatives from HM Courts and Tribunal Service as well as local leaders and stakeholders today at Ipswich Magistrates' Court.

MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock, who represents Haverhill, was not able to attend today's meeting, but has been working with Mrs Churchill to ensure that alternative options are provided for his constituents.

HANNAH MIRSKY

He said: "Jo Churchill and I are working closely together to ensure there is local access to justice. We have already secured the commitment that the Government will look at options for how that can be delivered and we will keep making the case."

Mrs Churchill said she had called the meeting to gain clarity on the closure so that her constituents know what the future of local justice will look like.

Once the closure goes ahead later this year, Haverhill residents will have to make a round trip of nearly 100 miles to Ipswich or more than 120 miles to Norwich in order to get to court.

It was announced in February that Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court and Family Court, in the town's Honey Hill, would be one of 86 courts across the country to close, as part of a plan by the Government to save £500m.

During a consultation period on the closure, 132 people wrote in, with many raising concerns about issues such as transport and access to justice. One suggested using Cambridge Magistrates' Court as an alternative court, as it is nearer to many West Suffolk residents than Ipswich.

Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court is set to be closed as it was only being used to 59 per cent of its total capacity.

No specific date has been announced for the closure, but a Government document states it will be between July and September this year, meaning that residents could need alternative arrangements for justice as soon as next month.

Newlywed left in tears at station over celebrity cat

MORTIFIED: Paula Rowling, pictured above on her wedding day, broke down in tears when told she wouldn't be able to see Felix, the Huddersfield station cat

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Email us at editorial@haverhill-news.co.uk or visit cambridge-news.co.uk/haverhill

A HAVERHILL woman has made national headlines after becoming distraught over missing her chance to meet a moggy superstar.

Local cat lover Paula Rowling was on her honeymoon in Scarborough when she took a trip to Huddersfield to meet international celebrity Felix, the station cat.

Felix, the station's "senior pest controller" with her own hi-vis vest, has amassed 63,000 Facebook followers, some as far away as Texas and Taiwan.

But when Paula visited, on the last day of her honeymoon, the cat was nowhere to be found – and station staff were not particularly helpful, telling her the "senior pest controller" was sleeping.

Paula broke down in tears on being told she could not see the cat and afterwards described herself as "mortified".

Now her story has been reported in national publications such as the Mirror Online.

She said: "I told them on

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Felix's Facebook page I was coming, but when I got there they said they didn't know where she was.

"I went to the enquiries desk and they told me she was asleep. I said I'd come all this way on my honeymoon and I just wanted to see the cat. I was in tears – I was mortified."

The blow, which came at the end of a 300-mile round trip, hit especially hard as Paula had just lost her own cat, Molly.

She continued: "I was distraught. I put a post on Felix's Facebook page saying I understand she's a cat, but they just didn't seem to care."

"It was a normal PR response, saying 'we're just trying to keep the trains running'."

"Now other people may think twice about going and not be disappointed if they can't see the cat."

Paula says she will not be making another trip to see the celebrity cat, adding: "If they don't want people to come and visit the cat they shouldn't have gone on the news."

A spokesperson from TransPennine Express, which runs Huddersfield Station, said: "We're sorry that Paula was unable to see Felix after such a long journey. As a cat Felix does sleep a lot!"

"Huddersfield is a working station, and as such our staff have a responsibility to make sure everything runs safely and smoothly, which means that they cannot always make Felix available on request."

Felix has been prowling around Huddersfield station for five years, but when she was made "senior pest controller" in February she gained thousands of fans worldwide and hit the headlines as far away as Hong Kong.

As well as her hi-vis vest, she has her own badge as well as her own Facebook and Twitter accounts to keep in touch with her loyal fanbase.

Simple way to halt congestion

HAVING long since been a Cambridge resident, I am quite appalled with what the council is proposing for Cambridge to stop congestion. I had a light bulb moment of inspiration to help stop the congestion.

Make it compulsory for children to walk to school (review where children live in relation to the catchment area of the school) and if you're not in the catchment area then you move school, simple as that. When it's a school holiday time traffic moves quite freely.

My next light bulb moment: ban council workers from bringing cars into the city and use public transport (bikes buses and walking).

If the City Deal bosses are really serious about sorting congestion the solution is really staring them in the face. Close all the car parks in Cambridge. Imagine them pledging to that to prevent congestion! Oh it's the cash they want but hang on it's a great start don't you think, make people use park and ride! Drop the £1 charge.

One final point I think would help solve Cambridge transport and congestion, bring in a proper firm of traffic consultants who are also familiar with this kind of problem Cambridge has. A change is for the good of Cambridge in the long run.

We were the flooded family!

I HAVE just read your story in this week's News about the floods in September 1968.

We are the family who are looking out of the windows in the Woolpack public house.

I was 9 years old at the time and can be seen in the far window with my dad who was Tom and in the other window is my mum who was May and my sister Susan who was 6 years old. Our brother Michael who cannot be seen, was 3 years old.

We had moved into the pub in February 14, 1967 and moved out in March, 1969.

From what I remember at the time people had tried to wake us up on the Sunday night but got no response.

The first we knew about the flood was when I got up for school on Monday morning. I went to tell mum and dad about all the water and they thought I was being daft.

We were stuck upstairs until the afternoon until the water had gone.

There was no school for a week until all the mud and muck had been cleared up.

girls are all fit and healthy, although I know how helpless you can feel when one of your children is hurting even in a relatively small way: a knocked head; a broken bone or an achy fever. The dads feel it too. As Father's Day approaches I find myself considering that unimaginable situation of having a child with a life threatening or terminal illness. Not knowing if your child will ever get better, or knowing that they never will.

I am an immensely proud supporter of Rainbow Trust Children's Charity, a charity that helps families caring for a seriously ill child. The charity provides emotional and practical support wherever and however it is needed. Fathers often feel a pressure to be the strong ones and act like they are coping as their world falls apart. Warm weather brings risks

POLLEN and pollution levels rising across the UK meaning people with asthma may find their symptoms get worse which can significantly increase their risk of a potentially fatal asthma attack.

People living in urban areas need to take special care as they are at risk of what is being referred to as 'grey fever'. This is when pollen particles combine with pollution – particularly common during periods of warm weather.

Asthma UK is encouraging people with asthma to check pollen and air pollution forecasts in their local area, make sure they carry their reliever inhaler, and know what to do if their symptoms get worse. Over 80% of people with asthma in the UK also have hay fever, so it's important that people affected use a steroid nasal spray every day together with non-drowsy antihistamine tablets as needed.

People can call one of Asthma UK's expert Helpline nurses on 0300 222 5800 for more information or advice on managing their asthma.

Sign up to the free email newsletter at: www.asthma.org.uk/sign-up to receive health advice and to find out more about Asthma UK's campaigns.

If someone has an asthma attack and a reliever inhaler does not seem to be helping they should always call 999.

Fire crews clean up for charity

AN extravaganza of charity fun including a car wash, baking competition and tombola took place at Linton fire station on Saturday.

Fire crews were on hand to polish cars to perfection and show supporters around the fire station. On top of this, 20 people entered the national charity cake competition, Bake A Difference.

The event raised £1,250 for The Fire Fighters Charity, which supports firefighters and their families across the UK.

Firefighter and organiser John Reynolds said:

"Thank you to everyone who was involved in the Linton Fun Day, it was a great success and a day that will definitely be remembered by many. It's amazing what you can achieve when communities come together; days like these are like gold dust."

PRISON SERVICE

Assaults rise at Highpoint

THE situation at Highpoint Prison, near Haverhill, "could become critical" as staff battle a rise in assaults involving prisoners and the use of drugs, according to a new report.

The Independent Monitoring Board (IMB) report was published on Tuesday, and looks at how the prison performed from January to December, 2015.

The report says that while the prison currently delivers "a reasonable and decent regime", budget cuts and staff shortages cause difficulties.

Prisoner on prisoner assaults and fights rose by 32.4 per cent during the year covered by the report, while assaults on staff increased by 27.9 per cent and self-harm incidents rocketed from 186 the previous year to 289.

The report said that a change in the prison's classification system had led to more members of London gangs being locked up there, which could account for prisoners becoming "more volatile and difficult to manage".

HANNAH MIRSKY

While use of some drugs such as herbal marijuana had dropped, use of the so-called "legal high" spice increased, with 1.956kg of the drug found in the prison in 2015. This was up from 1.634kg in 2014, and just 72.2g in 2013.

The report said: "The board commends all staff involved in these finds, but without a viable means of testing prisoners for usage, it is not known just how widespread the problem is within Highpoint. Reports of prisoners suspected of usage and displaying disruptive behaviour and/or signs of illness have been reported throughout the year and have drawn regularly on the resources and services of healthcare, the NHS ambulance and West Suffolk Hospital."

It added that there had been reports of prisoners coercing others to sample a new batch of the drug to test its potency – a practice described as "very worrying".

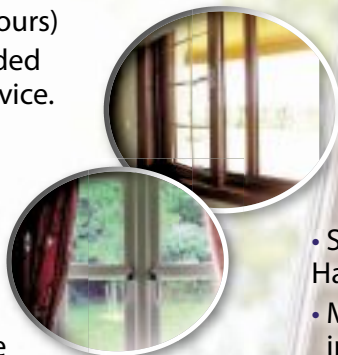

Other aspects of the prison were praised, such as refurbishment work being done on the wings, and a new programme called "Amends, Pathway to Opportunity" which helped prisoners prepare for resettlement in the community.

But in its overall assessment the report said: "The board has grave concerns that this situation could become critical. With more budget cuts, experienced staff leaving and a shortage of [operational support staff] things could escalate, meaning more incidents and even less time out of cells for prisoners. This situation can only be detrimental to the good order and discipline of the prison and the safety and decency of the prisoners in the care of the prison service."

REMEMBRANCE

Soldier and RAF fliers to be honoured at ceremony

A WOMAN whose husband was killed while serving in the British Army in Northern Ireland has welcomed a ceremony which will remember him.

Sergeant Graham Cox from Haverhill was shot by a sniper in October 1971 while serving in the 1st Queen's Dragoon Guards in Belfast.

A rededication ceremony for the town's Northern Ireland Memorial that bears his name and for the Second World War memorial which will have the names of two local war heroes added to it, will take place on Wednesday, June 22.

Sheila Cox, who had been married to Sgt Cox for 11 years when he was killed and had three sons with him, is set attend the ceremony at 11am at Haverhill Cemetery.

Mrs Cox, who is 74 and lives in Haverhill, said: "It seems strange really, because I have lived in Haverhill for 40 years and now all of a sudden we are sort of getting recognition. It's really nice that they are doing this." She described Sgt Cox as "a wonderful father".

The names of two men who served in the RAF are to be added to the Second World War memorial and their families will also be attending the ceremony.

Sergeant Tom English was a radio operator whose plane crashed into the sea in December 1939, days before his planned honeymoon.

Pilot Officer John Vinter Gurteen, of Haverhill's clothes-manufacturing family, had his Hurricane shot down over London in September 1940.

The names are being added after Haverhill Royal British Legion, which discovered the omission in November last year, worked with the cemeteries officer from St Edmundsbury Borough Council and the War Memorials Trust.

Alan Bumpstead, of the Haverhill Royal British Legion, said: "Almost all the families in Haverhill would have servicemen if not in their immediate families then in their ancestors, and we are paying respects to all of them by remembering those who have lost their lives."

Members of the public are welcome to attend the ceremony, which will be followed by a reception.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Warning after fire breaks out in chimney

A CHIMNEY fire has prompted a fresh warning to have chimneys properly swept before lighting up.

The fire broke out on Wednesday, June 1, at 6.56pm at a house in Common Road, Weston Colville. A crew from Linton was mobilised. Firefighters used ladders, chimney rodding and hose reels to extinguish the fire. They returned to station by 9pm.

A spokesman for the fire and rescue service said the cause of the fire was accidental.

The fire has prompted a warning from the fire service to anybody thinking of lighting a fire, urging them to make sure their chimneys are properly swept.

The spokesman said it was important to make sure the chimney was clear of excess soot build-up and that it was a bad idea to overload fires in a bid to build up extra heat.

The spokesman also said it was not advisable to leave a fire burning after going to bed, and that a working smoke-detector and carbon monoxide filter should always be installed.

Cars targeted

HUNDREDS of pounds of damage were caused after vandals left deep gouge marks down the length of both sides of a silver Honda Jazz.

The incident took place between 10.50am and 12.30pm while the car was parked at the Ex-Servicemen's Club in Haverhill's Quaker Lane.

Call police on 101 with any information.

Park makes bid for £1.5m grant

A COUNTRY park is applying for £1.5million of lottery cash after successfully bidding for nearly £27,000 in other grants.

Clare Castle Country Park could see a new cafe and improvements to its heritage centre in the old railway station, so that the platforms look like they did when it was a working station.

There are also plans to install a model railway in the former waiting room to demonstrate how it looked when trains ran through Clare.

The new board of trustees at the country park, which took over in March last year, has seen success in applying for a raft of grants.

The Tesco Bags of Help scheme awarded the country park £10,000 to clear the castle moat, improving both the ecology and the views of the castle.

Grants of £3,500 from Suffolk County Council and £5,000 from Suffolk Community Foundation will go towards equipment for the 60 or 70 volunteers who help maintain the park, including a mini tractor. They will also help create new signs to promote a number of circular walks that start and end in the country park.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Further grants are set to go towards new chairs and tables, audio-visual equipment and toilet facilities.

Chair of the board of trustees, Geoffrey Bray, said: "We have got a whole variety of things that are suitable for grants and we have been successful in almost every one we have gone for."

The trustees are not stopping there. They put in an application in March for £17,000 in funding for a new cafe in the booking hall and have just submitted a major £1.5million application to the Heritage Lottery Fund.

If the £1.5million funding was granted, this would allow a variety of developments.

Mr Bray said the trustees would like to see the buildings in the country park given a makeover, with one of the older structures turned into a "really nice community facility".

They would also use this money to revamp the heritage centre in the old station, installing a model railway and refurbishing the station's platforms.

Other projects that the Heritage Lottery Fund grant would allow include spending £120,000 to take silt out of the castle moat.

The 32-acre park gets 180,000 visitors a year. To find out more, visit www.clarecastlecountrypark.co.uk.

THE St Edmundsbury Sports Awards were launched this week for the tenth year running. The awards are run by Abbeycroft Leisure, who are responsible for both Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds Leisure Centres, and recognise sporting achievement in the area. There are 11 categories, including sports

Lucy's story is a winner

A YOUNG Haverhill writer has received an award for an "outstanding" short story – in the first writing competition she ever entered. Lucy Cant, 15, of Abbotts Road, was awarded first prize in a children's short story competition run as part of the inaugural Books East festival.

She was presented with her prize by top children's author Francesca Simon – known for the Horrid Henry books – at the Ipswich Corn Exchange last month. She had been invited to the event as one of the shortlisted candidates and did not know she had won until it was announced on stage.

The Samuel Ward Academy student said: "When my name was called, I just couldn't believe it. Francesca Simon was really kind and nice."

It was the first writing competition Lucy had ever entered, after being encouraged by her dad.

Her mother Christine said: "Lucy loves her writing and we are all incredibly proud of her achievements."

Lucy's winning short story, tiitled Isolated with the Waves, was inspired by her grandfather Peter Hill, who lived in Haverhill and died when she was 13.

The judging panel wrote: "This was an outstanding lyrical piece of writing. This was an unanimous choice for first prize by the judges for this age group."

Lucy was presented with a £20 book token and a certificate for getting first place in the 14 to 16 age category. She is continuing to write.

She said: "I would love to write when I am older. I am working on a children's book and it would be amazing to have it published. Everyone at Samuel Ward Academy has been supportive of my writing."

Books East festival ran for the first time from May 9 to 15 this year, bringing literary events to a range of locations around Ipswich.

It was born out of Ip-Lit, which from 2006 to 2014 ran as part of Ipswich arts festival Ip-Art.

the guide

Here comes summer...

GET a kick start on summer as Newmarket Nights opens its season next Friday with a day of family racing on Saturday.

The Corrs will be taking to the stage at the July Course on Friday, June 17 with hits including Runaway and Breathless.

And on Saturday, a Sports Day themed race day will be held, with plenty of sports day events so you can get some practice in ahead of the real deal at school.

Other activities will also be held including a bouncy castle, face painting, a bungee basket and fairground slide.

Children under 18 go free to the Summer Saturday race days, and a family of two adults can visit for just £20.

After The Corrs kicks off a summer of music at the racecourse, upcoming acts include Will Young on Friday, June 24, Kaiser Chiefs on July 15, and Busted on July 22.

See newmarketracecourses.co.uk for more information and for ticket prices.

■ Thursday, June 9 – Friday, June 17

■ Centre Stage Company and Haverhill Silver Band continue with their popular run of Brassed Off, the stage version of the 1990's hit film about miners, music, despair – and defiance from tonight to Saturday at 7.30pm with a matinee at 2.30pm on Saturday. Grimley Colliery is set to close as accountants say there's more money in it shut than open. It means 1,200 job losses, a dying town and the demise of its brass band. But under the leadership of Danny, coughing with coal-dusted lungs, the band is somehow transformed into British champions. Please be aware this production includes smoking on stage and some adult language.

■ Unfortunately, due to technical problems, The Judas Kiss will not be broadcast on Sunday at 8pm.

■ The arts centre has a RSC recorded broadcast of Hamlet on Wednesday, June 15, at 7pm. Simon Godwin (The Two Gentlemen of Verona 2014) directs Paapa Essiedu as Hamlet in Shakespeare's searing tragedy. As relevant today as when it was written, Hamlet confronts each of us with the mirror of our own mortality in an imperfect world.

■ There's a treat in store when Matt Hale comedy hypnotist joins the arts centre on Thursday, June 16, at 8pm with 100% Chicken Free. After packed 2015 shows and a sell-out Fringe season, Hale hits the UK with a fresh set of hilarious (but tasteful) hypnotic routines for one big night of fun. Matt will encourage volunteers to take part in some silly situations – but nothing that your granny would cringe at! Enjoy the show from stage or audience, the choice is yours! Volunteers, who must be 18 or over, can refuse at any point to continue to take part in the performance.

■ Limehouse Lizzy are back in Haverhill as part of their 2016 tour, continuing to keep the spirit of Celtic rock icon Philip Lynott and his band Thin Lizzy alive, well and dominating stages worldwide. The band have also added a tribute into their show to ex-Thin Lizzy guitarist (and world renowned solo artist) Gary Moore. They enter their 21st year with their most explosive show and critically-acclaimed line-up yet. Not to be missed, join them on Friday, June 17, at 8pm.

■ On the cinema front the arts centre has the final showing of Eddie The Eagle (PG), the uplifting story of have-a-go ski jumper Eddie Edwards, one of Britain's best-known sporting figures, as famous for losing as he was for winning, on Monday, June 13, at 1.30pm. Go along and get some of that feel-good factor.

■ Forthcoming events include Monkey Nuts Comedy Club with Ro Campbell, Steve Gribbin plus one other on Sunday, June 19, at 8pm, a Glyndebourne live broadcast of Il Barbiere di Siviglia on Tuesday, June 21, at 6.30pm.

■ Barbara Dickson joins the arts centre on Friday, June 24, at 8pm in a special acoustic performance, exploring her catalogue of songs with the support of her pianist Nick Holland. The pair let the words and melodies take centre stage as they perform a range of material that draws on Barbara's folk roots, her latest exploration of the songs of Gerry Rafferty, and some of her classic hit records. Nick joined Barbara's touring band in the mid-2000s after working with Troy Donockley in the Maddy Prior Band. He also sang on Full Circle, the first album to feature the style of music Barbara now performs. Not to be missed!

1.0-litre EcoBoost engine is Ford star

FORD'S tiny yet powerful 1.0-litre EcoBoost engine has been voted best in class at the International Engine of the Year Awards for the fifth year in a row. Judges praised the combination of drivability, performance, economy, refinement and technology that continues to set the standard.

The frugal three-cylinder EcoBoost engine was named "Best Engine Under 1.0-litre" by a panel of 65 automotive journalists, from 31 countries, to win its class each and every year since launch. This year it finished ahead of 32 competitor engines, 19 more than it competed against in 2012. Significantly, 2015 also saw an increase in competition from global automotive manufacturers of sub 1.0-litre, turbocharged engines with direct fuel injection.

In 2015, 105,000 Ford vehicles were sold with the 1.0-litre EcoBoost in the UK alone.

Brexit fears hit price of top cars

WILL WE WON'T WE: EU Referendum is causing chaos in car market

the EU referendum before buying a relatively high value car.

"Our reading of the situation is that these buyers are more affluent individuals who are concerned about the potential financial uncertainty that could follow a Brexit vote and don't want to commit to higher value purchases until they know whether we leave or stay.

"Obviously, the effect is not uniform across all dealers and some will still be doing well in this sector but we also know of others who are being affected quite badly."

Rupert said that the market was likely to recover quite quickly with a remain vote but that the effects of a Brexit would most likely be widespread uncertainty.

"In terms of the referendum, most of the dealers we talk to are adopting a 'better the devil you know' attitude. What they fear about leaving the EU is that they simply don't know what the effects will be on the overall economy and therefore the used car market."

Rupert added that the current used car market sweet spot appeared to be well below £15,000, with vehicles around the £7,000-£8,000 part of the market selling rapidly.

"Cars in this area of the market are flying out of auctions at the moment, especially if they are in a good colour and have a strong specification."

Supercar larks for Ally Pally

ALFA ROMEO 8C 2900: What a thrill!

WHAT'S the greatest supercar of the last 100 years? Lamborghini Countach or LaFerrari? Mercedes 300SL 'Gullwing' or McLaren F1? There's only one way to find out: visit The Classic & Sports Car Show this autumn.

That's because The Show is launching 'A Century of Supercars', a global poll to name the greatest supercar of all time – and the winner will be revealed at Alexandra Palace from October 28-30 in a show-stopping centerpiece.

With the Lamborghini Miura celebrating its 50th anniversary in 2016, supercars are in the spotlight: game-changing contenders vying for victory include the Mercedes 600bhp, Alfa Romeo 8C 2900, monstrous Metallurgique, sublime Ferrari 250GT SWB, fiery Ferrari F40 and record-breaking Bugatti Veyron to name just a handful of pioneering machines.

FREE BOOK - THE GREAT CONTROVERSY

Have you ever wondered about the past? Have you ever thought why we have religious freedom today and our belief in free choice? Have you ever contemplated about the Past, Present and also the Future and how you fit into these times?

The Great Controversy is a very powerful book explaining the past and onward to today and beyond. When we look at the struggle within governments around the world and within the EU, we must start to question why is there so much turmoil. The future can often be explained by understanding the past.

If you are looking for a better world, a better place where there is no more strife and no more pain and suffering, then this book is for you, first to understand the past and then to understand the future.

Paffett misses out on podium place

GARY Paffett claimed some useful points in the DTM at Lausitzring at the weekend, but the Haverhill driver was disappointed not to at least appear on the podium.

His best performance came on Sunday when he qualified in sixth place in his Euronics Mercedes-AMG C63.

He started the race in fifth due to a grid penalty for Christian Vietoris, but damage to his car when overtaking Timo Scheider meant he did not have the performance necessary to secure third place.

"My goal was to finish on the podium, but I damaged my car a bit while overtaking Timo Scheider," said the 35-year-old driver.

"I lost some grip on the front as a result. In the end, I couldn't hold off Jamie Green and Mattias Ekström behind me.

"Fifth place brings some good points, but it's slightly disappointing because I had set my heart on finishing third."

Saturday's race was always going to be difficult for Paffett after he qualified in 12th.

And it was made even harder during the race when he ran into the gravel on the first lap after being pushed wide by Adrien Tambay.

He clawed back some places but had to settle for 14th.

Gaffan glad to be back as Borough's assistant

ROD Gaffan is looking forward to stepping up to Thurlow Nunn League level after returning to Haverhill Borough as their assistant manager.

Gaffan was appointed to the role following his departure from Kershaw League, Premier Division side West Wrattling, having previously headed up Borough's reserve side in the Newmarket Motor Company League.

He turned down similar offers from Halstead Town and Haverhill Rovers – the latter of which would have seen him take charge of the under-21s along with assisting Ben Cowling – and is excited by the challenge awaiting him.

Football

"It's an opportunity to step up a level," said Gaffan.

"I could have gone straight into the Premier Division, but the First Division is still a good level, and I know the people and the club well.

"I've never coached at this level before, I want to keep learning and developing and I'm looking forward to the challenge."

Gaffan guided Borough's reserves to the NMC 2A title and promotion in the 2014/15 season, and followed that up by finishing eighth with Wrattling in the Premier Division last season.

But although he was disappointed to leave Wrattling, he is optimistic about the prospects for Borough as they look to build on last season's First Division Cup triumph.

"They got to the semi-finals of the Suffolk Senior Cup as well and there is a lot to look forward to with the new 3G pitch coming," said Gaffan.

"We'd like to get on a run in some of the cups this year as well and, although we just missed out on a place in the FA Cup, we've got the Vase to play for.

"It would be great to do well in at least one of the cups again, but the ultimate aim for this season is promotion."

Gaffan has already been assisting Borough player-manager Martin Westcott with finding potential recruits ahead of the 2016/17 campaign.

Former Wrattling goalkeeper Tom Coombes is already set to join the team for pre-season and several others could be on their way as well.

"When I spoke to Martin, he said we'd do everything 50-50," said Gaffan.

"We've got three or four players we're looking at."
